Clare Teal Sings the Great British Songbook

Clare Teal returns to Theatre Royal Winchester this spring with a brand new tour and a new show featuring material just recorded, plus favourite selections from her impressive back catalogue.

Never one to disappoint, Clare delivers a glorious mix of classics and originals from the albums spanning her highly successful career. The multi-award winning singer-songwriter, Radio 2 presenter and columnist brings her unique blend of humour and great music to the stage backed by the finest jazz musicians.

She has been named Jazz Vocalist of the Year three times in 2005, 2006 and 2007, an award richly deserved after a lifetime in music and she returns time and again to embrace her first love, jazz. Her musical history encompasses a rich relationship with the music of the 30s, 40s and 50s and she has also made forays into pop. As an accomplished vocalist, she has developed a dedicated fan base and delivers a polished performance every time.

Led by the dynamic young Australian composer, conductor and pianist Grant Windsor, this show certainly swings and is not one to be missed.
