An Audience with Jenni Murray at TRW

Jenni Murray OBE will be discussing her long career in broadcasting and role at the helm of Radio 4's Woman's Hour, in An Audience with Jenni Murray at TRW on Fri 9 July. The audience can expect to hear inside information from some of Jenni's most engaging and terrifying interviewees, from Barbara Castle to Monica Lewinsky to Tom Hanks and Jack Nicholson, Margaret Thatcher and Tony Blair.

Jenni was born in Barnsley, Yorkshire just four years after Woman's Hour first came on air and recalls many post-lunch hours sitting alongside the family wireless set listening with her mother. The programme has always been unafraid to tackle controversial issues and was the first to discuss the menopause, homosexuality and co-habitation, although in the early days listeners were warned of any 'racy' content in advance!

Jenni was awarded an OBE for her radio broadcasting in 1999. She presents The Message From Manchester and is the author of The Woman's Hour: A History of Women Since World War 11, Is It Me or Is It Hot In Here: A Modern Woman's Guide to the Menopause and That's My Boy! A Guide for Parents. She was a weekly columnist for The Daily Express from 1998 to 2000 and now writes for various newspapers and magazines, including The Daily Mail.
